Sunday, November

The reading is from St. Paul's Letter

Brethren, God who is rich in mercy which he loved us, even when we were dead (but he made us alive together with him—by his grace you have been saved), and raised us up with him and seated us in heavenly places in Christ Jesus, that he might show the immeasurable riches of his grace to us in Christ Jesus. For by grace you have been saved, and this is not your own doing, it is the gift of his works, lest any man should boast. For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works, which he prepared beforehand, that we should walk in them.

The Gospel According to Luke 10

At that time, a lawyer stood up to test him. "Teacher, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?" "What is written in the law? How do you read it?" "You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, your soul, and with all your strength, and your neighbor as yourself." And he answered right; do this, and you will have life.

But he, desiring to justify himself, said to Jesus, "And my neighbor?" Jesus replied, "A man was going down from Jericho, and he fell among robbers; they stripped him, and departed, leaving him half-dead. As he lay there, a Samaritan passed by on the other side. So likewise a Levite saw him, passed by on the other side. But a Samaritan, who had compassion, came to where he was; and he bound up his wounds with oil and wine; then he set him on his animal, and took care of him. And he brought him to an inn, and took care of him. And the Samaritan said, 'I will give you whatever more you spend, I will pay it back.' Which of these three, do you think was my neighbor?" "The man who fell among the robbers?" "And Jesus said to him, 'Go and do likewise.'"
